Traffic Safety is no laughing matter. Nearly 40,000 people die each year on this nation's highways and hundreds of thousands more get severely injured. Since I own a satellite radio, I can drive into busy cities and already know where to set the radio to help me deal with the traffic and road conditions. I don't have to look at the dial and search madly for a "traffic report" while I'm driving in heavy high speed traffic.

Satellite radio is a better solution for this problem than the current approach.

And YES this will affect how I vote in the coming election. I expect the government and the agencies like the FCC to take my safety very seriously. And some competition will improve the radio programming in this country.
